

BIBLE LITERACY ASSESSMENT

This assessment gives you an opportunity to chart your Bible study growth. It's like measuring a child's height on a wall or door frame to note how they are growing. As lifelong readers of the Bible, we want to grow in biblical literacy over the course of our lives. Today, I'm inviting you to put that first mark on the wall. Then, come back to this exercise every year to notate your growth! The goal of this exercise is not to discourage or condemn you. God is pleased with you, not because of how well you know the Bible, but because Jesus has given you His own righteousness. This exercise is simply to help you become aware of your current level of biblical literacy and note any gaps in your study of the Scriptures.

Rate each book of the Bible from 1 to 5, based on how familiar you are with it.

1 = "I've never read it, or if I have, I can't tell you anything about it."

5 = "I know most or all of the major characters and themes of the book, and could give you a general outline."
